Programs and Projects in March

- Saturday programming continues to expand and bring in more families.
- The book sale at the Parish House went well and we reached our financial goal.
- Gary Emerson's local history talk on steamboats was well attended and well received.
- There has been an increase in agencies using our programs for mentoring time.
- Tutoring at library has stepped up in hours and numbers.
- Roxanne attended the new Committee for Children Birth to Five Years, chaired by Michelle Gimbar, head of Head Start, and Shawn Tubridy, parenting educator of CCE. Schools, agencies, and other organizations are at the table.
- Roxanne attended the village Comprehensive Plan, which will be wrapping up in July or August.
- Seed library and Starting Seeds program are continuing with great success, getting vegetable, herb, and flowers out into the community.
- The eggs in the incubator have had many young visitors daily, checking progress.
- Enclosed, you have the guidelines for staff and volunteers to ensure that all visitors are greeted and offered assistance upon arrival.
- STLS Directors Advisory Council met in Watkins; these meetings are giving good information for planning for the future of the library.
- Our larger children's programs with Tanglewood, Corning Science and Discovery Center, and Finger Lakes Toy Library will continue on school vacation days and throughout the summer.
- Teen Movie Night attendance is growing.
- Open Art supplies have been used almost daily.
- Tourists are starting to come through.
- We were closed on the first Friday of March because of snow.
